

*Introductory Notes
to the 4th CCMC Workshop*

Nov 5-8, 2007

Chuck Holmes, NASA

Paul Bellaire, NSF

GREETINGS FROM THE CCMC STEERING COMMITTEE CO-CHAIR!

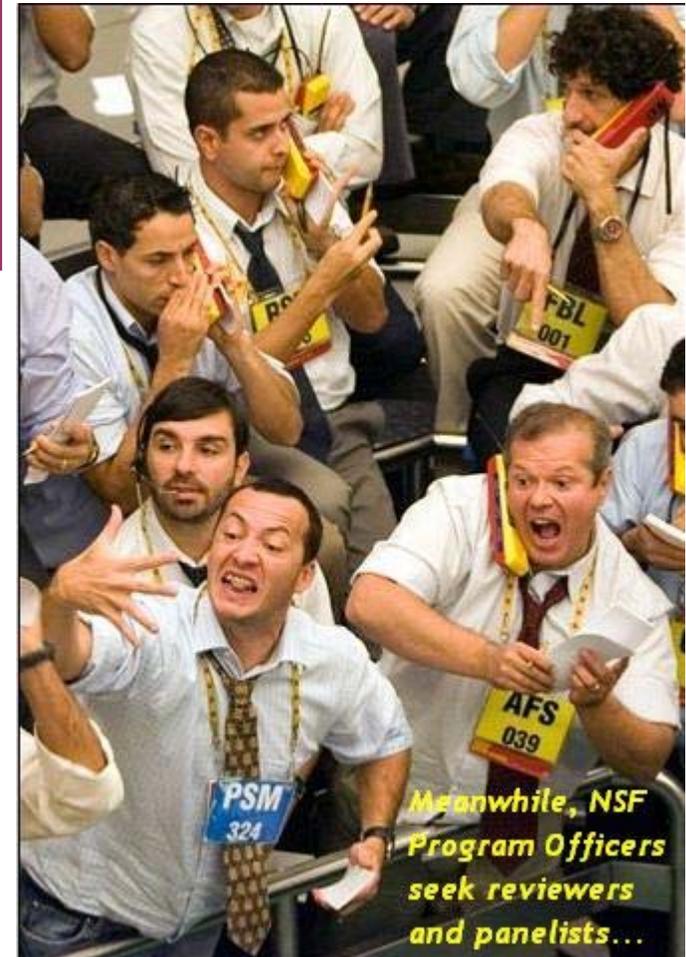

I'm sorry I can't be there, but I'm up to my neck in work at the moment, due to a telephonic Panel back at the NSF...

(Can you imagine? PI's want me to "show them the money!")

Enjoy Your Workshop!

Greetings for the other Co-chair

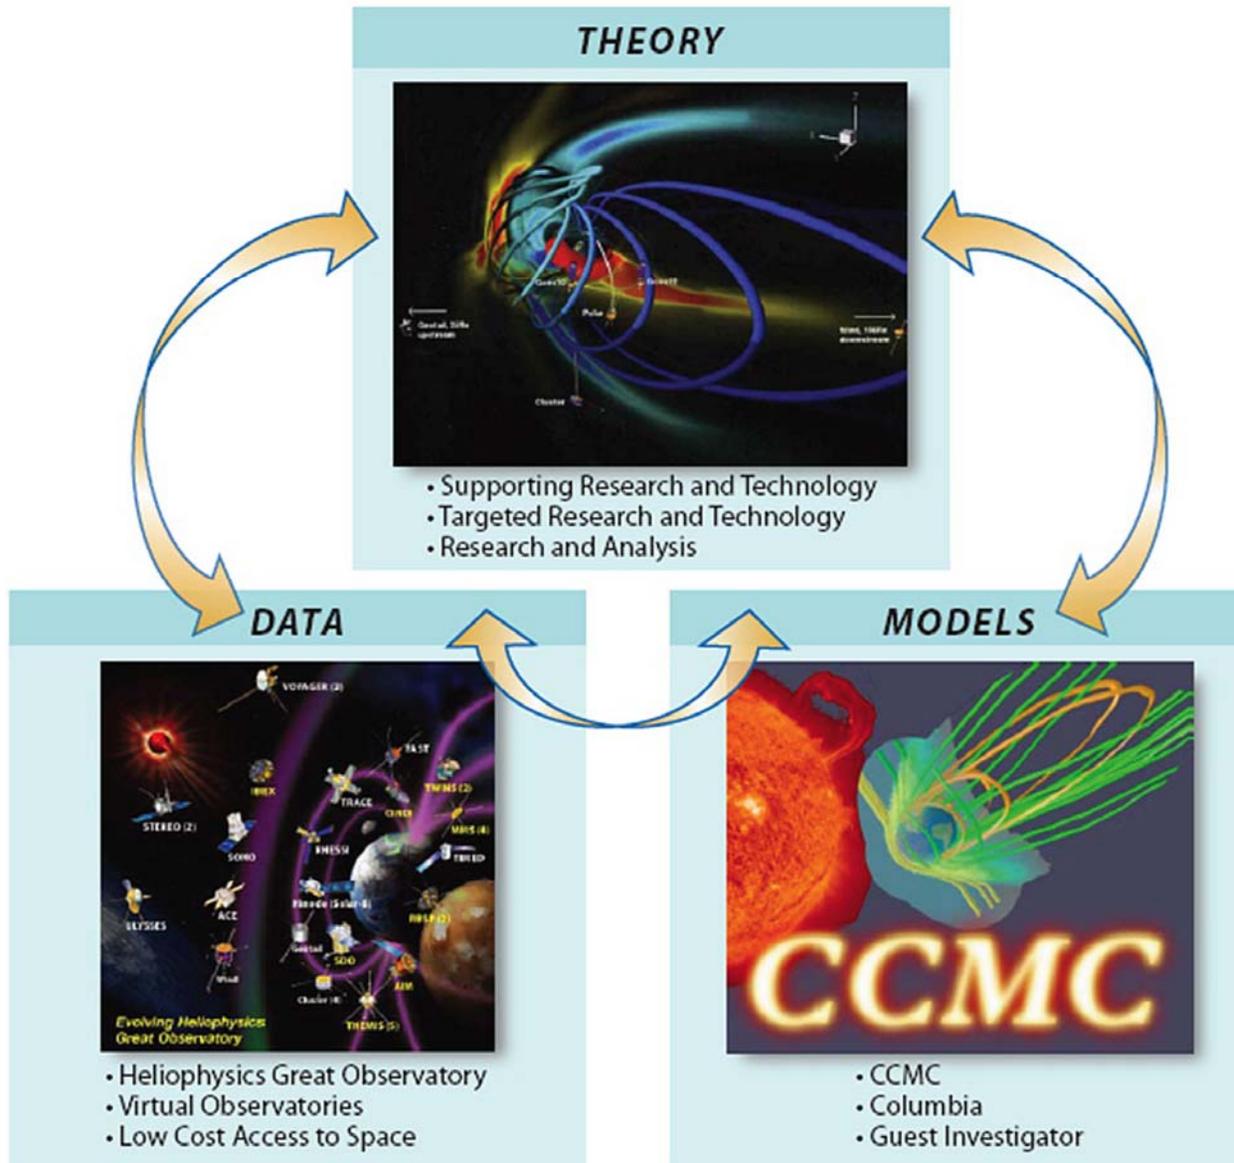

★ We all know why we are here:

Space Weather: We need to know!

Heliophysics: An Integrated Program

But the real reason we are here at the Arecibo Observatory:

Ellie and Joss sit under a tree on the hillside, looking out over the dish; the long hanging bridge to the aiming array dwindles into twilight.

They lie back, looking up at the stars.

ELLIE: It's just so arrogant...

To think this little backwater planet is it...

That all that was put there as nothing more than our own personal light show...

JOSS: It does seem like it'd be sort of a waste of space.

Thanx in advance to:

- ★ Michael, Masha, Therese and the CCMC staff for organizing the workshop, website, and agenda,
- ★ The Bob Kerr and the Arecibo Observatory staff for hosting us,
- ★ To all the speakers and participants, and to
- ★ The NSF for sponsoring the workshop
 - But why didn't you arrange an appearance of Jodie Foster or Pierce Brosnan?
